

Subject: Ready for fun?

Hi Joe,

It's Dave here from River and Desert Action Sports and wow, I just can't wait to tell you about something fun, I mean this is REALLY fun!

Imagine this...

After navigating down a long set of staircase drops, zigging and zagging and then successfully skirting the final boat eating hole, you begin to relax a bit...

You think to yourself, "Wow, that was sweet!" The stability of the vessel has made the run a snap as you float gracefully through the final wave train sequence.

Then you spot the play wave. This is the one that you've been waiting for. Smooth, glassy face that stretches unbroken across half the river.

So you eddy out, punch the line and wham, you're surfing. The power of the wave grabs and holds your attention as you rhythmically slide back and forth across the face.

Moments later, still on the wave, you drift off into the zone...that peaceful place. A glow inside, as you are hypnotized by the waters' pulsating white reflections off the sun.

You continue surfing the wave. To the right, then to the left, and back again.

Endlessly falling down the face of the wave.

You have been here many times in your kayak; frolicking about. But this time is different.

This craft is unique. At this moment, you are standing high above the water - on a stand-up paddle board...

Whaaaat? Surfin' waves? Running rapids with ease?

...in a stand-up?

Is this possible?

INSERT LINK

It is true. The Rincon WaterBoard offers you all the thrills of play boat paddling and river running in a stand-up configuration.

This board is unlike any other, hands down. It makes SUP Whitewater paddling not only possible, but now brings the experience to an incredibly exhilarating new level.

Pure fun!

Have you ever tried to use a stand-up in the river only to be frustrated from constantly falling and swimming?

...getting tossed off even by the smallest water features?

With the Rincon WaterBoard, it is different...

The design of this river running SUP vastly improves your ability to stay on top, on the board - the way things were meant to be. Its channel bottom hull and removable fins allow it to track yet spin quickly.

The unique shape and curves provide unmatched stability and maneuverability.

With this super fun SUP, you will have the confidence to ferry upstream, punch through sharp eddy lines, and enjoy carving across your favorite surf waves.

And yes, you can even paddle down some of the most difficult rapids with ease.

Constructed with the same rotomolded plastic as kayaks, this board will outlast and outperform the other river SUPs currently available.

Sounds exactly like what you have been looking for, doesn't it?

INSERT LINK

Order your WaterBoard before the end of this month and it will be delivered with 50% savings on the shipping cost.

As with all Rincon products, this SUP is warranted to be free of defects for a full year after purchase.

And to make this river SUP absolutely irresistible, the WaterBoard is offered at one of the lowest prices of any SUP available today.

But you need to act now. The river is waiting.

Will you answer the call?

INSERT LINK

Dave
River and Desert Action Sports

P.S. The WaterBoard will definitely step your river SUP game up to an entirely new level. From flat water calm to bombing gnarly river holes and every surf wave in between, this SUP totally rocks.

It is available now at a surprisingly reasonable price.

How far will you push your game with your WaterBoard?

INSERT LINK